The Technical for MAY

Bridle Straps

David Bonham

Have you ever found broken bridle straps on an old upright piano?

If so, come learn David Bonham's method of replacement at the May 2003, PTG meeting.

Is that piano ready for you to sell?

If not, what must be done and what should be done prior to putting it on the market? Along with his technical regarding bridle straps David will share his ideas regarding this oft asked question.

Let's give David our support and attend the May PTG meeting.

From the PTG Home Page:

If a piano is facing a fireplace or heater and its surface feels warm, it's too close.

From my mom:

If a piano is facing a fireplace or heater and is starting to smoke, it is WAY TOO CLOSE!
